PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

ZINNIA | Senior Product Marketing Manager

Oct 2024 - Present

Enterprise financial-services technology company | New York, NY

- Lead product marketing for 20 SaaS products across four GTM suites serving financial-services clients and advisor-distribution audiences; define portfolio and suite value propositions and carry them through campaigns, web content, events, field materials, product videos, and executive presentations.
- Own go-to-market planning for new products, capabilities, and market expansion, translating roadmaps, customer and market insight, and technical input into target audiences, use cases, launch plans, channel strategy, proof points, and field readiness.
- Rebuilt the sales narrative into a modular field enablement system spanning a master portfolio deck, audience- and market-specific versions, competitive briefs, demo scripts, proposal support, and training standards that teams can use consistently.
- Conduct competitive and account research for strategic opportunities, synthesizing company financials, leadership priorities, technology environments, operating models, and competitor capabilities into positioning, campaign recommendations, and sales guidance.
- Build cross-functional marketing plans with Product, Sales, Marketing, subject-matter experts, and leadership; developed a 12-month paid media and event strategy with $175K and $250K investment scenarios across three publications and three priority conferences.
- Set portfolio-wide standards for product taxonomy, claim verification, source grounding, and brand voice, helping market-facing and executive materials stay accurate and consistent across channels.
